

NARRATIVE

On January 27, 2025, at approximately 1430 hours, I was dispatched to call [REDACTED] regarding a collision a bicyclist had with her car. She told me that she was a passenger in her car and her partner was driving. They had just gone through the intersection at New Brooklyn and Sportsman Club when a cyclist ran into the passenger door of her [REDACTED]. They stopped and the boy got onto his bike and rode away. She spoke with crossing guards at the intersection, and they believe the young man attends [REDACTED] school and they will attempt to get his name and forward it to [REDACTED].

[REDACTED] said that there was a dent left in the car
