

NARRATIVE

Passerby saw vehicle off the road and called 911. When I arrived, I saw a red pickup off the east side of the road with the driver's door impacted against a large Alder tree. No one was around. The location of the accident was on an access road to a city park just off Fort Ward Hill Rd. Based on vehicle position of final rest, vegetation impressions and skid/scuff marks it appears that the truck was westbound on Fort Ward Hill Rd. The truck turned right onto the access road of Upper Fort Ward Park. Due to excess speed the trucked yawed in the clockwise direction and left the paved road driver's side first, impacting a dead tree, coming to rest after impacting a large Alder tree. There were no plates on the truck, but I was able to locate registration in the center console. With the owner information Officer R. Norton was ultimately able to speak with the owner's ex-wife who told him that the owner had sold the truck. She was going to put her ex in touch with the owner. The truck was impounded via Kitsap Towing to determine who the current owner/driver is.
